Little Visits
WITH
UNCLE BEN
Satisfied.
We travel nuddy up and down
To find the town of Satisfied.
The birds are singing all the day,
And the birds are singing all the way,
And the birds are singing all the way,
But we, a restless army, find The yielding soil to Satisfied.

Beside our path the daisies bow—
We find the town of Satisfied.
We find the town of Satisfied.
The perfume of the fragrant trail,
The perfume of the fragrant trail,
The perfume of the fragrant trail,
We find the town of Satisfied.
Through tears and pain to Satisfied!

By meared blossoms wet with dew, Tells on our crew to Satisfied!
The beauties of the country road We pass with ever laden load, By my trails our eyes we goad To look beyond the sunlit road And court the cheer of Satisfied!

Why travel nuddy up and down
To find the town of Satisfied?
He said to-morrow—all the way!
He said to-morrow—all the way!
Where God has sent his glories down And every town is Satisfied!

Getting Even.
Hickson lives in the country. Last summer he went visiting, got into a city barber's chair and had to pay $1.50 to get out again. This spring he resolved to get even.

A gawky man from the tall uncut walked into a barber shop in Chicago yesterday and asked if he could get a shave.

"Cert!" replied the dapper barber, flirting his red apron around the customer's head and slicing him up for a toner.

"Better have a haircut first, sir.
Hair needs trimming."

"All right, go ahead," The barber cut his hair. Then examining it closely, he remarked:
"Seems as if your hair is coming out fast. Looks like the ends was splitting. I can tell better when I give you a shampoo. Have a shampoo?"

"I don't mind if you do," from the victim, who seemed to feel flattered at the amount of attention being paid him.

The barber gave the shampoo, using fresh eggs at 10 cents each. Then he got busy again.

"This hair ought to be shined. It's coming out scandalously. Shine?"

"Why, yes, I suppose you might as well."

The barber shined the hair.
"Better have a little of Dr. Doem-up's hair salve, I guess. That will be about the best thing after this shine.
And now for some hair tonic and a shave!"

The barber did all these.
"Try an electrical massage. Makes your face look as young as a baby's.
Better have a massage and get fixed up right, hadn't you?"

"Well, yes," hesitatingly, "I suppose."

Then when the rub got out of the chair and the barber handed him another of those $5 break-your-back barber bills, the tall, uncouth yahoos from the back district, shed out his hand familiarly and chuckled:

"Why, how're Bill? How're all the folks? I swan, I'd a knowed you anywhere. I'm Hank, yer brother from Nebraska. Well, well, well! Hate t' have t' introduce myself, but this here bill makes it necessary."

And then the city brother had to come up to the chalk and look happy, but the happiest man in town was the visitor. He had got even with a city barber, even if the barber was his brother whom he hadn't seen in 30 years!

Tares.
"No matter the price, we have to have a living at any cost," says a New York editor. Oh, I don't know—there's Philadelphia.

A woman who can put on her hat in less than five minutes, is too swift for Uncle Ben. Shoo! you giddy thing!

Sometimes a fellow cannot help but feel revenge on the hero and the heroine of the average novel marry in the last chapter. Somehow, he sort of feels that it serves them right!

The motto of the button is, "Push," but sometimes it is expensive. You never can tell what a new girl will order.

The motto of the window is, "Take Pana!" If you cannot get Pana's, perhaps someone will hand you a lemon.

The pencil is easily lead.
Why is a bright young man like a torn off calendar?—'cause he is up to date.

The strength of the game is in winning the coal man's daughter is to keep cool. She will take you for the ice man.

It is all right to do a driving business, but don't be a human hammer.
The nutting always rises to the grater way.

Sometimes a young fellow wonders why he doesn't seem to appear to the girls as he appeared to his own eyes in the mirror of his bed room.

The motto of the glue pot is "STICK." Paste this in your hat—not the pot, but the motto!
A seal ring generally makes a good impression.

FIREWORKS NIGHTLY.

ERUPTION OF VESUVIUS TO BE REPRODUCED.

PAIN'S FAMOUS PYROTECHNICS

One of the Most Remarkable Amusements Ever Shown in the South.

Whether or not it is the promise held out to us in the rainbow that the earth will again be destroyed by water but by fire, the interest in fire works is as old as history, or at least runs back to the period when they were first introduced hundreds of years ago in China. To make a big eventually a success, it is almost necessary to add to the amusement features a great fire works exhibition. This has been done by the State Board of Agriculture, under whose auspices the Kentucky State Fair is to be held in Louisville, September 16 to 21.

contact has been closed with Pain's Pyrotechnic Co. to bring from New York complete, Pain's new monstrous spectacle, "Vesuvius," a gigantic reproduction of Naples and Vesuvius.
This is an exact picture, 350 feet in length and fifty feet high, of the modern city of Naples and of Vesuvius, from sketches and views taken on the spot by Pain's special artists and reproduced by the eminent scenic artists, Messrs. Reed and Rafter, and their assistants. It is the most elaborate spectacle ever attempted. It depicts the illumination ever attempted. It depicts the "Carnival of Naples" and the eruption of Vesuvius as they occurred on the night of April 3 and 4, 1896.

The subject lends itself to the most gorgeous of scenic environment, and the most wonderful electric and pyro-technic effects. Two immense acts are devoted to the reproduction. The "Carnival of Naples" is attended by the King and Queen of Italy, and other crowned heads. The streets of Naples are shown on a fête day; the populace and visitors are in gala attire; there is a feast of lanterns and ballet chorus, concluding with the introduction of some wonderful European specialties.
While the carnival is at its height, a small curl of smoke begins to ascend from Vesuvius. The alarm begins and increases as the mountain rapidly belches out its lurid flames and seething ashes.

The first act is concluded and the second, the awe-inspiring calamity, is begun. Refugees crowd into the city; the King and Queen depart for a town in the mountains; there is mass in the cathedral. Old Vesuvius, in tremendous detonations, speaks angrily to the inhabitants for scores of miles around, the rain of ashes with rivers of lava continue, and the destruction of the city is complete.

This great spectacle is to be given nightly at the Kentucky State Fair grounds, to be followed by Pain's wonderful fire works, the display of which will be changed each night.

The contract made between the Pain's Pyrotechnic Company and the State Board of Agriculture, calls upon the former to bring the entire Manhattan Beach program, as produced at Manhattan Beach, Coney Island, New York. There are 250 performers, properly and splendidly costumed. The fire works program covers fifty numbers, constituting all of Pain's latest novelties.

"YOU TAKE YOUR CHOICE."

Races of Every Known Form at Kentucky State Fair.

It is said of the Kentuckian that half of his cranial is filled with brain matter and the other half with mistletoe horseshoes. The ability of the citizen of old Kentucky to gain eminence demonstrates clearly the truthfulness of the first half of the statement, and his love of a horse race indicates that the latter half is by no means an untruth. The Kentucky State Fair, which will run for six great days at Louisville, beginning September 16th, holds out special inducements to everyone, whether or not a Kentuckian, to polish up the horseshoes imbedded in his head by reflected glory.

The State Fair management has arranged most interesting speed program covering trotting, pacing and running races. As the new home of the State Fair, which was Douglas Park, has the fastest trotting track in the world, many records are expected to be smashed during this meeting.

Those who have been robbed of through constant contact with rubber tire that carry gasoline tanks, will find in the automobile races that which appeals to them. Others who have turned their thoughts from things terrestrial to things celestial, will gain their desires in the balloon races.

The Kentucky State Fair has in its making the promise of the breaking interests of Kentucky, a college to educate the people of the whole south to the recognition of the value of the best grades of all kinds of live stock.

The most exciting of aerial sports—balloon races—will be on the amusement program of the Kentucky State Fair.

There will be 2,650 awards, an average of 418 awards a day for six days, at the Kentucky State Fair.
